

34th IAE International Conference
Stockholm June 19-23, 2011

CALL FOR PAPERS

Institutions, Efficiency and Evolving Energy Technologies

WELCOME TO STOCKHOLM

The world is facing a strong need for a major transformation of the global energy supply system. One obvious reason for this is the threat of climate change caused by carbon dioxide emissions. Another is the continuing concern for the impact on the environment and human health caused by the use of conventional energy sources. A third factor is the concern for the geopolitical aspects of energy supply. At the same time there is a continuing need for a safe supply of energy, in suitable forms, at a reasonable cost.

The 34th IAEE International Conference with the theme Institutions, Efficiency and Evolving Technologies will be held at the Stockholm School of Economics in the very center of Stockholm, Sweden. The conference will bring together a wide spectrum of energy economists, policy makers, and professionals from all parts of the energy sector and representatives of governments and other public institutions. The aim is to address and thoroughly elucidate key issues related to the challenges outlined above.

On behalf of the organizing committee I wish you all a very warm welcome to Stockholm and an exciting conference.

Lars Bergman
General Conference Chair

CONFERENCE TOPICS

As usual at IAEE conferences all the major fields of energy economics and policy will be addressed. In addition there will be a special focus on the following topics, in plenary sessions and in a number of specialized concurrent sessions:

- The organization of energy related innovation and technological development
- Evolving technologies and energy use in the transport sector
- The political economy of energy markets
- Energy security
- The design, integration and regulation of energy markets
- Energy demand and energy efficiency

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION DEADLINE: JAN 17, 2011

Abstracts must be submitted electronically, by January 17, as word documents at the conference website:

www.hhs.se/iaee-2011

Abstracts, of a maximum two pages in length, should comprise: Presentation of research topic, brief overview of related research, methods, results and conclusions. The lead author must provide complete contact details, i.e. mailing address, e-mail address and phone number. At least one author for each accepted paper must pay the registration fee and attend the conference.

Authors will be notified by March 1 of their paper's status. Authors whose abstracts are accepted will have to submit their full-length papers (up to 12 pages) by April 18.

The papers will then be made available at the conference website are welcome, the abstract selection process will seek to ensure as broad participation as possible. If multiple submissions are accepted, then a different co-author will be required to pay the speaker registration fee and present the paper.

CONFERENCE VENUE

The conference will be held at the Stockholm School of Economics in the center of Stockholm (street address Sveavägen 65). The school's main building has recently been entirely renovated and is now well suited for international conferences such as the 2011 IAEE International Conference.

The Gala Dinner and Awards Ceremony on June 20th will be held at the Wasa museum, Sweden's most visited museum, while the reception on June 21st will be at the Stockholm City Hall where the Nobel banquet is held on December 10th every year.

The climate in Stockholm in June is usually pleasant, with temperatures ranging between 20 and 25 C. However, it might be much warmer, or cool and rainy. Evenings are very light, with sunset after 10 p.m.

IAEE STUDENT PROGRAM

As part of the IAEE International Conference Student Program, the IAEE offers the IAEE Student Paper Award and IAEE International Conference Student Scholarships. Detailed information about these options for students is available at: www.hhs.se/iaee-2011

TECHNICAL TOURS

1. The combined heat and power plant in Södertälje

This is a half-day tour to Södertälje around 35 km south of Stockholm. The plant was commissioned in 2009 and is the biggest heat and power process based on bio-fuels in the Nordic countries. It supplies heat to the interconnected district heating systems in the southern parts of the Stockholm area. The host of the tour is Söderenergi AB, the owner of the plant.

2. The Arena City in Solna

This is a half-day tour to the new Arena City in Solna, around 5 km north of Stockholm. The Arena City complex will contain Sweden's new national soccer arena, hotels, restaurants and stores, and it will use the best available technologies for energy conservation. At the time of the conference the complex will be half complete. The tour is hosted by the owners of the Arena City.

3. The Forsmark village

This is a full-day tour to Forsmark, a village around 150 km north of Stockholm dating back to the beginning of the seventeenth century. Forsmark village was originally a community built around ironworks, in a style that was typical for its time and with several counterparts in the area. Today the village is more like a museum, and Forsmark is currently best known for the nuclear power plant located just outside the village. In addition to tours of Forsmark village and the nuclear power plant, the plans for a final repository for used nuclear fuel will be demonstrated. The tour is hosted by Vattenfall.
