

Mark Jaccard is a climate change expert and professor at Simon Fraser University's School of Resource and Environmental Management since 1986. He leads the Energy and Materials Research Group (EMRG) and the Canadian Industrial Energy End-use Data and Analysis Centre (CIEEDAC).

He served as Chair and CEO of the BC Utilities Commission (1992-1997) and was appointed to the National Round Table on the Environment and the Economy in 2006. He has also contributed to the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change and the Global Energy Assessment.

He has received multiple honors, including the SFU President's Award for Media and the Sterling Prize for Controversy. He holds a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Grenoble and degrees from Simon Fraser University.