

Isaac Dyner - Universidad Jorge Tadeo Lozano, Bogotá, Colombia

Dr. Isaac Dyner is an Emeritus Researcher from Minciencias, Colombia, and Professor at Universidad Jorge Tadeo Lozano. He was Dean of the Faculty of Natural Sciences and Engineering for ten years. His research topics include Policy and energy regulation, energy markets, corporate strategy, policy towards emission reduction, modeling, simulation, the role of energy in development and energy transition. He published and consulted extensively. He has been Visiting Professor of the British Academy and academic visitor at Imperial College London, City University, London Business School, Warwick University, University of Lugano and several Latin America universities.

Dr. Dyner received his Ph.D. in Decision-Sciences from London Business School, his M.Sc. in Statistics from University of Warwick, his M.Sc. in Operation Research from University of Southampton.