

Program Director at Paris School of Economics, France

Christophe Bonnery has served as President of the French Association for Energy Economics since 2009 (www.faee.fr). In 2019, he was elected President of the International Association for Energy Economics (www.iaee.org). Currently, he is Program Director at the Paris School of Economics (www.parisschoolofeconomics.eu). His previous roles include Vice President of Economics & Prospective at Enedis, the French power distribution company, and Vice President of Energy Policy at the AREVA Group, where he worked on shaping energy policy and advocating for balanced stakeholder approaches. He initiated the French Circle of Energy Economists to strengthen the link between academic energy economics and policy makers. He also established the Marcel Boiteux Award, which honors the best book in energy economics. In addition, he led a program exploring synergies between the nuclear and oil industries for heavy oil production..

Mr. Bonnery received his M.Sc in General Engineering from Ecole Nationale Supérieure des Arts et Métiers, Paris, France, and MBA in Petroleum Economics and Management from the Center for Economics and Management, IFP School, Paris, France.

His former affiliations include: Head of the Economics Department, NUSYS consulting company, Paris, France; Project-consultant, Shell, Paris, France; Research Assistant, Economic and Industrial Research Division, University of Petroleum and Minerals, Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. Christophe Bonnery has been awarded the Knighthood of the National Order of Merit.